First Execution Rocks Lighthouse Tower Climb

Whether passing Execution Rocks by boat or looking down on it from the Throg's Neck Bridge, how many of us have wondered what it was really like inside that landmark?

July 4 begins a schedule of opportunities to do just that...boat out to Execution Rocks, climb the protective rocks and go inside this tower built more than 100 years ago.

Congress commissioned the lighthouse in 1847 because the rocks created a safety problem for ships navigating the Sound. It was designed by Boston's Fanueil Hall architect Alexander Parris, and built in 1849. The Keepers House was built in 1867.

Visiting Execution Rocks

The initial public visit scheduled for July 4 begins at 9:30 am at the Town Dock and returns about 2:00 pm. Pack a lunch and take the $25 Water Taxi ride to the Rocks. While not for the faint of heart or out of shape, (wear appropriate clothing and boat shoes or sneakers) your visit will give you a first hand view and understanding of the historic site and why its preservation is important to all.

Preserving the History

A brand new non-profit group, Historically Significant Structures, has been awarded access rights to this intriguing spot, along with an obligation to refurbish and maintain the facilities.

Historically Significant Structures is a non-profit organization established to raise funds to restore, renovate, preserve and operate Execution Rocks and similar structures that are part of our American Heritage.

While donations are encouraged, the visit is free. Other visitors who take their own transportation to Execution Rocks while the tour is ongoing are welcome.

Water Taxi reservations and information are available at 516-455-0411 or 516-767-1691 and portwatertaxi.com. Information on Historically Significant Structures at www.LighthouseRestorations.org.

Port Washington Organic Farmers' Market

The Port Washington Organic Farmers' Market has opened for the 2009 season, bringing local farmers and vendors to the town dock every Saturday morning from 8 am to noon, rain or shine. Port residents who are "regulars" know to get there early for the best selection and can count on a cup of organic coffee and a freshly baked muffin or scone to start their day. The market is also a great place to meet people and catch up on the local news. And if you're interested, the farmers will talk about the weather and the progress of their crops! It's been a rainy spring!

Karen Greene from Whole Foods Market cooks up veggies in mouth-watering recipes that you can take home and try yourself.

New offerings this season include honey and beeswax candles, eggs and chickens, grass-fed meat and hand-made soaps.

The market will run until the end of October. Please bring your own reusable bags! For more information, contact Grassroots Environmental Education at 883-0887.

Manhasset Bay Kayak Run To Be Held August 8

The Community Chest of Port Washington and the Town of North Hempstead invite all to participate in the fifth annual Port Washington/Manhasset Bay Kayak Run to be held on August 8, starting at 9 am at the Town Dock. The event provides an opportunity to explore Manhasset Bay via kayak, with check points along the way to qualify for prizes. It is not a race and all are welcome. This year's suggested course will be over six miles but there is no need to complete it. You can do as much as you can.

The kayak run is a family event open to kayakers of all skill levels and is limited to human powered kayaks of all sizes and shapes. Bring your own kayak or rent a kayak from Atlantic Outfitters at a special reduced rate to participate in this community event. Application forms are available via the Community Chest web site (www.portchest.org), at the Town Dock, Atlantic Outfitters, or the Twin Pines Food Co-op. The entry fee (donation) is $25 ($35 if paid on August 8) for adults and only $5 for participants under age 20. Proceeds from the kayak run will benefit the Community Chest of PW. For more information, call the Community Chest at 767-2121, or Atlantic Outfitters at 767-2215.

The event is sponsored by TONH, Port Kayak Club, Atlantic Outfitters and the Community Chest.
