Tis the season....or is it?

There is a lot of buzz about celebrating the holiday season, especially this year with the confluence of Hannakuh and Christmas on December 25. It all sounds nice but is anyone actually exhibiting their spirit of good will... etc. etc. etc.?

I suspect you think I am going to lament the continued shrillness following the November 4 election... If that is your thinking, I do not have to belabor the fact.

Some may feel that another way to exhibit good will is to follow the idea of "Shop Local". Another good idea that seems to be a good slogan but not much on follow through.

So where do we start on the path towards exhibiting good will, courtesy and friendship? How about when we are driving around town?

When we first moved to Port we were delighted with the courtesy of the local drivers. They stopped for pedestrians. Pedestrians tried to cross at cross walks and, when there was an accident or road impediment, drivers would actually take turns in letting vehicles through.

Today, Not So Much!

Let's see if we can reestablish the idea of courtesy and, even legality, by actually stopping at stop signs, or, horrors of horrors, stopping for a "right turn on red".

Maybe we can be more courteous around the train station, especially if the pedestrians reciprocate by using the cross walks.

Finally, how about the little observed or known rule that you are required to have your headlights on any time that you are using your windshield wipers, whether it is for rain, snow, sleet, or ice?

This may not eliminate the stress level, but just maybe, it would be a start.

Have a great new year!
