Four To GO!

Dave Allen

That's right! We have just four more months of 2016! Wow! While many may view the past eight months as good, great, boring, frightening, promising or ordinary, I like to think of this past eight months as leading up to great promise for the rest of 2016.

School is open and the shops are full of students, parents, grandparents buying all sorts of things from crayons to backpacks, from new 'athletic shoes' (we called them sneakers) to dresses, jackets, jeans – all kinds of clothes. This, of course, makes the local shops happy.

Even our shore restaurants look forward to a long fall to help round out a profitable year.

Landmark's season begins September 10 and there are more galas and NFP events than you can remember (that's one reason for this calendar).

Our inland restaurants are busy booking holiday parties while keeping one eye on the potential of a New York team making the playoffs... and, of course, the pubs are gearing up for a football season and more wings than chicken farmers can provide.

The signs of optimism are everywhere. Look at the Halloween candy already showing up, can Thanksgiving, Kwanzaa, Hanukkah or Christmas be far behind?

Lots to be optimistic about especially if we all pledge to SHOP LOCAL!

PS: One more item to be thankful for – the election will be over.

Twin Pines is Back Serving the PW Community

Twin Pines, located in the Community Chest building has been around for more than 38 years. It started as a food Co-op when buying in bulk and organic food were not readily available. Through the years, under the leadership of Edna Turner, Twin Pines (TP) was a resource for many families here in Port. It provided healthy food and information on nutrition. It became a workplace for those in need of training, a safe place for people who needed to serve community service hours, and a thrift shop for simple goods and treasures.

Twin Pines is now up and running again as a charitable thrift shop.

The new board has announced the appointment of two well-qualified and enthusiastic co-managers – Karen Bloom and Cheryl Podolsky.

Karen and Cheryl are looking for volunteers for all kinds of jobs – sorting and pricing items, helping customers, bookkeeping and other office work.

Donations of household goods, gently used clothing, and non-perishable foods (within date) are once again being accepted.

Call Twin Pines at 883-9777 to make an appointment for donations or information on how you can help.

Twin Pines is located at 382 Main Street in the Community Chest Building (across from Louie's), with its entrance on Prospect Avenue. Additional parking is available on the Town Dock. It is open Wednesday - Saturday from 10AM – 6PM.
