Sometimes the ordinary is really extraordinary

Dave Allen

A few weeks ago Marie and I had an opportunity to sit down with a delightful fellow who grew up in Port and now splits his time between Manhattan and Port. His story was about an 'ordinary,' yet fascinating family. The subject was Rose Trinchitella and a birthday party planned for her on August 12 at LaParma on the Bay.

While we often hear about individuals in and from Port who make headlines and/or lots of money, it soon occurred to us that sometimes the ordinary folks who simply get married, work hard and raise a family also help make Port the a special community.

Rose's parents, Antonio and Maria, were married in 1910. Antonio moved from their home in Potenza, Italy to Port in 1912. Maria followed a year or so later. They had 10 children including Rose who was born in 1927 and the youngest daughter. Rose became the caregiver while her parents worked... and even today, she is known as the favorite aunt because of her consistent concern for everyone else.

Rose married Dominic in 1951. They first lived on West Shore Road and moved to 64 Wildwood in 1944. They raised two children James and Daniel, who has two daughters, Sarah and Kathleen.

Dominic ran gas service stations in Port and New Hyde Park and the boys grew up working in the stations. Rose worked for the school district at the Main Street School. James worked for Leon Goldstein Fabric Store, had paper routes and a variety of other local jobs.

Dominic died a few years after their 50th anniversary.

So, this month about 50 cousins, nieces, nephews, grandchildren and friends of the family will celebrate Rose's 90th birthday...A celebration and tribute to a hard working family whose parents emigrated here to work hard and live a special dream.

Marie and I thought this was special, we hope you do also.

Cards and notes of good wishes should be sent to Rose Trinchitella at 32 Fairview, Port Washington NY 11050.

Twin Pines Thrift Shop

Twin Pines, a not-for-profit thrift shop is located in the Community Chest Building with an entrance at 382 Prospect Avenue.

The thrift shop prides itself on having "something for everyone" all at reasonable prices. There is a wide variety of items for all age groups - gently used clothing for adults and children, small appliances, linens, artworks, tableware, and collectibles, books, DVDs CDs, video games and for toddlers there are strollers, scooters and other fun equipment. Mothers have expressed their delight at being able to allow their young children to choose inexpensive toys and books.

The shop depends on volunteers to serve its customers and maintain the space in an orderly and attractive manner. Additionally individuals are provided with the opportunity to complete their mandatory community service in a supervised environment.

Store hours are Wednesday through Saturday from 10 am to 6 pm. Twin Pines co-managers, Karen and Cheryl, the volunteer board and the board president, Marie Marcellino thank all members of the community who have helped make our shop an important part of Port Washington with their donations and service. If you are interested in helping Twin Pines, call 516-883-9777 or drop in and speak with one of the managers.
