Question of the Month

During 2017 the PW Calendar will post a special Question in this space. Here is our first of the year.

You can help...

In cooperation with Twin Pines Community Charitable Thrift the Port Washington Calendar is seeking your assistance.

As cold weather sets in we know there are residents in need of warm clothing and, possibly, additional groceries.

You can help by letting us know of any resident who may be in need.

Just email us at Marie@PWCalendar and we will do the rest... and keep your name anonymous if desired.

The Art Guild Announces Winter 2017 Art Class Schedule for Children & Adults

The Art Guild of Port Washington is happy to announce the the Winter 2017 schedule of classes and workshops for children and adults.

Adult classes offered include six-week painting classes: Landscape in Oils for beginners and intermediates with Paul Bachem; Watercolor for beginners and intermediates with Eileen Neville; the Still Life in Oils for all levels with Frances lanarella; and eight-week drawing classes for beginners and intermediates with Stephanie Navon-Jacobson.

A four-day Watercolor Workshop for adults with internationally acclaimed artist Joyce Hicks will be offered 6/22-25. Workshops with artists Christine LaFuente (Alla Prima Painting), Christian White, Stephanie Navon-Jacobson (Printmaking), Paul Bachem (Plein Air) and

Is it about building confidence or setting one up for an emotional fall

Recently, we have heard a lot about the concept of entitlements and awards. Of this takes the form of 'everyone gets a trophy or certificate or prize or ____'... You can fill in the blank.

The difficulty in this concept came to light the other morning while doing one of my "Heavy Recreational" activities... playing solitaire on the computer.

I realized that this whole concept had gone to an extreme... I had just "failed to win" game number 1458492. And up popped the happy screen "No More Moves! You have run out of moves. Good Game!" Actually, I had committed a dumb move but, heaven forbid that the screen should read, "You Lost again! Dummy, watch what you're doing!"

So the concept of never losing, never screwing up and never making a mistake has been overwritten by the feel good concept of "Good Job".

Sorry, sometimes the tiger wins and when it happens we should know we could, or should, have done better.

Maybe that is why we see such a petulant pushback from this last election... lot's of people are having a difficult time with the concept of losing, without a prize.
